

The Probation Service protects the public and create safer communities by helping offenders to desist from committing more crime. It has a strong record of reducing re-offending, managing offenders safely in the community, reintegrating prisoners after release and of providing an effective, efficient and value for money service. On behalf of the Department of Justice and in conjunction with the Courts Service, the Irish Prison Service, An Garda Síochána and the wider community, its mission is to provide high quality assessment of offenders and a professional and effective management of services and supports to bring about positive change in the behaviour of offenders.
